FIDE Registration of International Competitions

Approved by the 1980 General Assembly.
Amended by the 1984, 1995 and 1996 General Assemblies and 1999 Executive Board.

FIDE provides an umbrella for vital services such as categorisation of tournaments and title norms. For these services FIDE should be properly funded. On registration FIDE shall supervise the proper scheduling of important events to avoid conflicts in the chess calendar.
Registration shall consist of:

(a) Certification by the national federation that it approves the event.

(b) Arbiter's report submitted not later than two weeks after conclusion of the event, including details of results, tournament category, norms, ratings of players, protests and other significant incidents.

(c) The national federations in whose territories international chess competitions are held, are to register these tournaments at the FIDE Secretariat; a list of the registered tournaments will be published regularly; the federations will be invoiced once a year, effective with events beginning on or after January 1st, 1981, on the basis of the following division:

(d) The registration fee is calculated on the basis of the following division: (GA '95)

Tournaments of categories 0 to 3	50	Swiss Francs (EB ’99)
Tournaments of categories 4 and 5	100	Swiss Francs
Tournaments of categories 6 and 7	150	Swiss Francs
Tournaments of categories 8 to 10	200	Swiss Francs

Other categories multiply 40 Swiss Francs by the category.
Swiss Tournaments (Number of players multiplied by Sfr.2 for up to 300 players and then multiply by SFr.1)
Team Tournaments (SFr.30 per team, except for national championship which will pay a maximum of SFr.200)
Matches, according to category above

(e) (GA '95) However, in no case shall a federation be charged more than SFr.4,000. per year.

(f) For the time being no registration fees will be required for ladies' tournaments although these tournaments as a matter of course should be registered.

(g) Small tournaments such as local Swiss tournaments shall be exempt from registration fees. (GA '80)

(h) Secretariat will exempt from registration fee an event in which less than five rateable results have been reported. (GA '80)

(i) (GA '96) Announcements of open tournaments should also be sent by email in ASCII text to FIDE for publication on the FIDE Web site.
